Preface

This recording of the Burjes family goes back to the seventeenth century with the baptism of Jurgen Hinrichs in 1683 in Germany. Generations number 1, 2, 3, and 4 lived and died in Germany. A son in the fifth generation (the only son of which we know about), Johann Volkmar Burjes, was born in Ostfriesland in 1831 and married Hilke Ajedina Fenke Wubkelina Remmers there in 1856. They and their four children who had been born in Germany emigrated to the United States in 1868. They settled in Fosterburg, IL (near Alton), where many of their descendants were born and raised. As with most American families their descendants are now spread throughout many areas of the United States.

Variations on Bürjes

In German, the letter ‘u’ is distinct from the letter ‘ü’ (umlaut). The ‘u’ (without umlaut) is like the English ‘oo’ in ‘root’ or like the ‘u’ in ‘bush’. The ‘ü is unlike any English letter and is pronounced with difficulty by those whose first language is English. For the English-speaker it is somewhat like trying to say ‘ee’ with protruding lips. The most accurate written representation in English is the diphthong ‘ue’, which is also an alternative used in German. Thus, a common spelling in English of the German name ‘Bürjes’ is ‘Buerges’. If the umlaut were simply omitted the name would be written ‘Burjes’.

Although the German pronunciation of the letter ‘j’ is like the English ‘y’ as in ‘young’, it is understandable that it easily could be converted, when written and thus when spoken, into the English ‘g’, leading to a spelling as ‘Burges’ or Burgess’.

It is likely that ‘Bürjes’ was modified to one of the other spellings because of the desire of the owners of the name to conform their spelling to the misspelling by non-German-speaking Americans.

When the family name of Johann Bürjes was brought to America and exposed to the ear and pen of non-German-speaking Americans, variations on the name were developed and adopted by various family members. The most common, long-lasting, and wide-spread is Burjes. Other variations such as ‘Buerjes’, ‘Burges’, and ‘Burgess’ have been used to a lesser degree. The name of Hannah, daughter of Johann, has been spelled in various places and different times in her own hand as ‘Bürjes’, ‘Buerges’, and ‘Burjes’; the last was the survivor.

Ship passenger list

GERMANS TO AMERICA

Lists of Passengers Arriving at U.S.Ports, 1850-

These volumes were reviewed seeking information about the immigration of family members. Information found was accepted as reasonably accurate, recognizing that errors could creep in as data were recorded and, later, transcribed, particularly as regards spelling of names.

Re: Johann Volkmar Bürjes

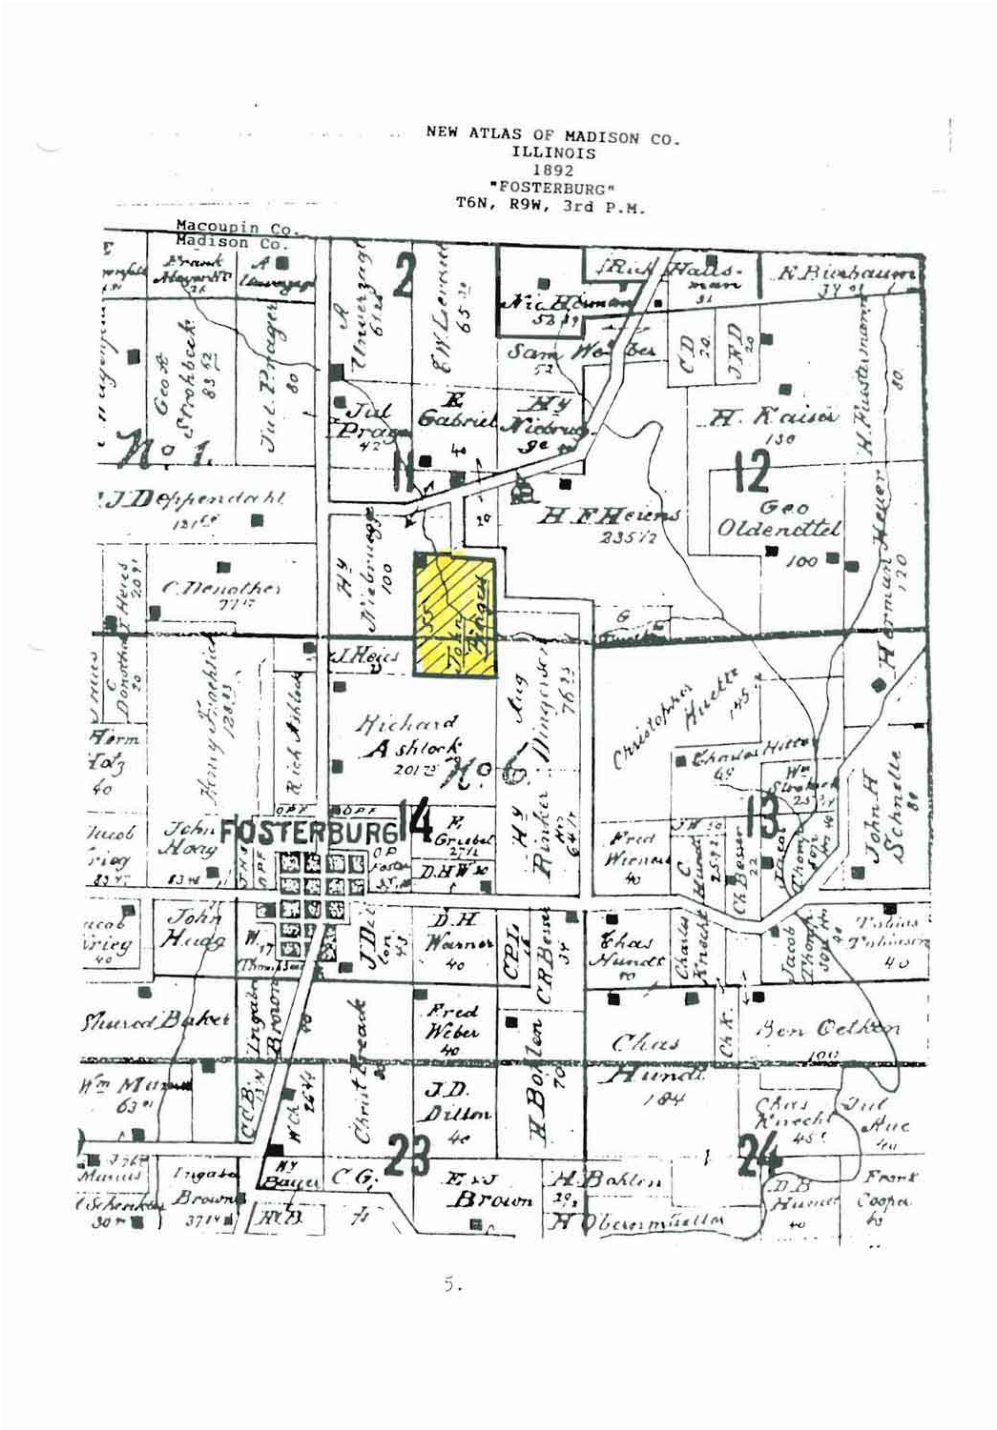

It is family lore that Johann immigrated with his wife, Hilke, and the first four of his children, travelling on the first all-steam ship. The youngest of these four, Johanna, spoke of being about 1½ years old at the time. Thus, since she was born in June 1866, the trip was most likely made in 1867-68. Search for their names in "Germans to America" was conducted for those years, using the surnames, Burjes and Buerjes. The family group was found in Vol. 21, page 47.

According to this entry, they were from an un-named village (VIL-000) in Hanover (PRV-HO), bound for an unspecified location in the USA. The family name has been converted to the phonetic spelling; Hilke has become Wilke; Johanna has become Johanne and her age has been reduced by more than a year. Johanna's older sister, seemingly, has been mis-named, since she was commonly known as Lieberdina. However, the spelling here is consistent with that provided by Gerhard Bürjes of Stickhausen, Germany, from which the family emigrated. He has identified the family members in a family photo of 1903, including Sieberdina.

The 18th century German system of names permitted the son of Jürgen Hinrichs to be known as Hinrich Jürgens. Hereafter Hinrich refers to Hinrich Jürgens. Johann Gustav Bürjes was a volunteer in the Third Westphalian (Ostfriesland) Landwehr regiment 1813-15, which fought with the Prussians at Ligny. The third regiment was badly hit with a lot of men dead or wounded, so it could not take part in the battle of Waterloo two days later (volume of the history of the third regiment, written by Dirk Ziesing, published in 2017). He was a forced soldier who was branaded on the forearm so he would not run away. He almost starved after the cannon horses were eaten during the retreat from Moscow in the winter (according to a letter written by Delores Burjes dated 31 Nov 2003). He was a shoemaker from Detern. He and Rixte Jürgens Bürjes were cousins.

Notes for Hilke Ajedina Fenke Wübkelina Remmers:

Hilke Ajedina Fenke Wubkelina Remmers: This is her true name as revealed by German church records. No example has been found of her own use of this name; she used and was known as Hilke or Hilka. For her non-German-speaking descendants her unusual name was believed to be Hilka Ouya Dena Fenka Vipka Lena or something similar. However, there is disagreement on spelling and sequence. Doubtless, these similar versions derive from imperfect recollection and recording of spoken German. Passenger lists show that Johann Volkmar Burjes, his wife, and four children arrived in New York on 25 May 1868 aboard the ship Bremen, which sailed from the port of Bremen. Family lore says that this was the first all-steam passenger ship. The name of Johann's second child, according to German family records (and the passenger list), was Sieberdina, the same as that of her grandmother. Nevertheless, she was generally known as Lieberdina.

Herrman and Maria Josephine Dingerson, died on 6 Feb 1972, in Nyssa, Malheur County, OR.

Notes for Hazel Ethel Heiens:

Hazel was born in the same neighborhood as Leroy, but they did not know each other until they were adults.They had aunts and uncles who were married to each other, so had common cousins. Hazel was 7 when her family moved to Kansas at the recommendation of the family doctor who said her mother, Anna, had consumption and would not survive the Illinois climate. When Hazel was 14, her family bought a new and better farm, and a few months later, her father, John Heiens, died of a heart attack. Anna had never written a check or helped with the business of the farm, but she learned fast with the mentoring of the banker, and they paid off the farm in a timely manner with all of the children helping, so the former owner could not foreclose. The farm was near Abilene, and Hazel hauled the milk from their farm to the creamery owned by the family of Dwight D. Eisenhower. Hazel attended St. Joseph School of Nursing (Kansas City) for a year, then returned home to care for family members with the Spanish Flu. She was asked by the family doctor to care for other families. She spent the rest of her life helping people with their health issues, and friends would call for her advice. She took a year of normal school to teach, and went to South Dakota to visit her Uncle and Aunt, who were neighbors of the Herrman family. She loved SD and stayed to teach, and met and married Roy. She never lost her love of South Dakota, the prairie and the people. The move to Nyssa was hard work, but she and Roy built a successful farm business as well as participating in church, neighborhood, Legion and Grange activities as well as developing long life friendships. She and Roy were very interested in politics and world affairs, and read voraciously. Hazel voted in the first Presidential election that women were allowed to vote-19th Amendment! She and Roy were encouraging and supportive of the children in school and activities, and goals in their lives. She was able to live on the Nyssa farm until her death.

Notes for LeRoy Benjamin Herrman:

Roy was born in Illinois and moved to be with his family who had homesteaded in the Hilland SD area when he was in eighth grade, since he and sister Edna had stayed behind to finish school. Roy farmed with his family near Hilland SD. He entered the Army in WWI, where he trained other soldiers. He was hospitalized with a ruptured appendix which resulted in infection, so he was not able to go overseas. He was treated with sulfa since penicillin had not been developed. He was discharged on 24 March 1918. He returned to farming with his family after the war, met and married Hazel, who was visiting her uncle and aunt and began teaching school near Hilland. When Roy was was 32 (Keith was a year old), his leg was severely injured in a thrashing accident. He spent months in the Mayo Clinic in Rochester MN and his leg was able to be saved. He lived the rest of his life (to 79) wearing a brace and shoe that accommodated for the 3" shortened leg. All of the children remember him never complaining, and he worked long and heavy jobs as a farmer and in the sugar factory in Nyssa. The family moved to Nyssa, OR, in 1939, where land was becoming available for farming with water from the Owyhee Irrigation Project, because of the hard times caused by drought in South Dakota and the depression. Roy was a farmer/dairyman for his life. He loved working with milk cows, and developed an award-winning herd of Holstein milk cows in Oregon. He kept the radio on during the milking time twice a day so he had contented cows! He was a board member of the Payette Creamery for many years . He never tired of telling how the Owyhee Dam made the high desert grow green and always had water available for crops and orchards. They planted a "Family Orchard" of 13 peach trees, 7 apricot trees, at least 5 cherry trees, every kind of plums and so about 100 jars of canned fruits and vegetables were available to feed the family. He and Hazel were very interested in politics and world affairs and made sure they voted. He lived on the Nyssa farm until his death in 1972, six months after he and Hazel celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Notes for Eunice Lucille Heiens:

Stories told by Eunice: Mother bought a new tricycle for Ralph and hid it in the barn loft until Christmas. Roy found it and a friend rode the tricycle until Christmas. When Mother went to give it to Ralph for Christmas it was half worn out. I came home from school one day early and thought no one was at home. I started to undress in the bedroom and heard a growl and a short time later I heard another noise. I went and got the gun and stuck it under the bed and a voice said HA-HA! . . . . It's me, Roy!! Ralph and Roy went hunting one day and brought back a skunk. They remembered that skunk oil was supposed to be organically therapeutic and good boot oil. The trick was to keep the meat separate from the fat. Anyway they left their boots outside after oiling them. On Saturday night the smell wasn't so bad, so they went to town to see a movie. It got hot in the movie theatre and the boots started to smell. Everyone in the movie theatre left in panic.
